“NEO-CLASSIC BLUES” a handsome woman & a pretty man

Gaye Adegbalola & Roddy Barnes graciously contributed their original compositions & musical talents to the video documentary “A LOVE STORY-IN THE FACE OF HATE.” If you like the music on the DVD, you'll love this CD!

CLASSIC BLUES was the first blues ~ the first blues to be recorded for popular consumption. It was immensely popular in the 1920s. CLASSIC BLUES WOMEN were the first to chronicle topics like domestic abuse, alcoholism, prostitution, homosexuality, gender politics, racism and other social conditions, and, of course, sex ~ its joy and its pain. Musically, these women introduced vocal techniques that gave drama and immediacy to their performances. They would cry, growl, moan, syncopate, slide & slur, bend & break notes, improvise and rephrase to bring their stories to life.

Adegbalola & Barnes have embraced and redefined this style as NEO-CLASSIC BLUES ...
